Thanks For letting me borrow your tools, Mr. Morrison

uh, I'm not sure

I'm gonna call the landlord in the morning and see if the renter's insurance will cover a new one, I guess

No problem, neighbor! When are you thinkin' you'll be able to replace that window?

Alright, well if you need anything else feel free to come bother me, alright Grogh?

Alright. Thanks again, I really appreciate it.

Morning!!

Hey! What are you doing here this early?

Well, you know. Trying to be a little smarter with my time and everything now I guess

Also!! I cleaned up my apartment a little bit last night and found your Fidget cube thing!

Oh, thanks! I was wondering where this had gone in my meeting yesterday.

Well, now you have it for your next one!! sorry I lost it before though

I guess I'm getting my life back on track haha

Huh. Well, I'll call you at lunch to see if you're back in the gutter yet.

chuckle

I'll already have a spouse, two kids, and a house with a pool by then uh huh.

yeah I'm gonna name them Scharztmugel and Slurp

Well, I was very impressed.

Your portfolio is excellent and shows how much of an eye for detail and framing you have across several mediums, not just photography.

I, for one, am really looking forward to seeing this level of quality in our future issues.

Just so you're aware, though, the places you'll be going to get these pictures are... well, frankly pretty dangerous.

However, the company does cover a weekly 8 hour-guard from DeFenderaide for employees putting themselves at risk for the magazine, so we'd get all that set up for you soon.

Our last photographer could get himself around pretty easily in dangerous situations and didn't need this coverage.

so we might even have enough in our security budget right now to afford you more than one guard per week.

But anyway, we are definitely excited by what we've seen of yours so far, and would be happy to have you on the team!

Wow!! Um, thank you!!
Yeah, I'd be honored to be a part of the team!!
